

OBSERVANCE OF DAY IS GENERAL

Christmas Celebrations Held in Churches and Clubs on Sunday.

ARMY FEEDS THREE HUNDRED

Elks Scatter Good Cheer From Automobiles—Big Tree at Fort Douglas.

There were quite a number of Christmas celebrations Sunday. The Salvation Army gladdened the hearts of over 200 children with a feast of eatables, in the afternoon, at the First Methodist church, for which occasion nearly 100 turkeys had been donated, while in the evening, a big Christmas tree with presents completed the festivity. The Third Presbyterian, First Methodist and others of the city churches that had not held their Sunday school celebrations previously, celebrated Sunday. The Alta club held open Sunday. The Alta club held open house in the afternoon and evening, and the University club members enjoyed an unusually fine dinner, with a Christmas tree and presents later. The Elks completed their remarkable generous season of donations this morning with a tree filled with many packages of candy, popcorn, peanuts and toys for the poor children who came thronging in. The general giving had been completed by 2:30 p.m. Saturday, when 600 boys and girls were made happy, with Christmas packages sent out in the caravan of automobiles from Elks' headquarters. Shortly afterwards, 200 newboys called at the club house where they were fitted out with clothes, underwear, caps and shoes. Col. C. L. Applegate, A. E. H. Peterson, B. F. Gaffey, E. E. Hawley, J. W. Collins, Exalted Ruler W. G. Romney and Secy. A. W. Ray, should were in charge of the poor children's Christmas.

BIG TREE AT FORT.

There was a big tree set up in the post hall at Fort Douglas, loaded down with good things given out by a live Santa Claus to the 84 children in the colony. Lieut. Edwin Butcher officiated as Santa Claus, being ushered in by music from the regimental band. The hall had been profusely decorated by the ladies of the garrison assisted by a committee of enlisted men. The general celebration committee was composed of Capt. A. J. Macnab, Maj. D. E. Holley and Chaplain Clemmens. Every messenger boy in the employ of the Postal Telegraph company was presented Christmas eve with a woolen sweater, from President Clarence H. Mackey of the company, the presentation being general wherever the company has offices. As there are about 5,000 boys employed as messengers, the outlay could not have been less than $10,000.

Moving pictures were shown the inmates of the state prison this morning. In the chapel, which they all much enjoyed.

CELEBRATE HOLIDAY WITH NATIVE CUSTOMS

Swedish Organization Presents Elaborate Program in Twelfth-Thirteenth Ward.

Rendering the services in their native tongue and subserving to the customs of the old country, the Swedish organization of the Twelfth-Thirteenth ward was joined by Latter-day Saints from several of the stakes in an elaborate Christmas program, Sunday morning. Among the Swedish people, Christmas is the most important of annual events both in the old country and in their new home in America, and preparation for the Christmas program requires weeks of work. The greater part of the program was musical, and conspicuous among the numbers were the choral selections. The opening anthem was rendered by the Elks' singing choir, followed by the Christmas carol by the choir of the Twelfth-Thirteenth ward. This choir also rendered "Hear the Christmas Bells are Tolling." The excellence of the program was added to by the duet sung by Misses Johnson and Lindholm. Many addresses and recitations were included in the program, which was concluded by the Christmas sermon, delivered by Elder August Carlsson.

The peculiar properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have been thoroughly tested during epidemics of influenza, and when it was taken in time we have not heard of a single case of pneumonia. Sold by all dealers.

CHRISTMAS AT ORPHEUM.

Stage Hands and Stars Take Part in Pleasant Affair.

Attaches of the Orpheum theater, which included all from the ushers and stage hands to the stars on the bill of last week, gathered on the stage after the performance of Saturday night and brought Christmas in amid good cheer and an accompanying Dutch lunch. The program was informal and many impromptu "stunts" were put on to make the occasion more happy. Two presentations were made when the festive spirit was at its height. These included an engraved umbrella for resident Manager C. N. Sutton and a pair of military brushes for J. H. Garrett. These were from the employees of the playhouse.

PEACEMAKER IS SHOT.

While Trying to Stop Quarrel Wild Bullets Hit Her.

Mrs. A. Van Mater, a negress, who was the innocent peacemaker in a quarrel between Ora and Will Buford, two other negroes, at their room, 1612 Commercial street, was shot in the right arm Saturday afternoon. Will Buford who fired the shot is in jail charged with assault with intent to kill. Ora Buford was attempting to remove her trunk from the room, when the argument started. Buford thinking he would bring it to a hasty close whipped out a big gun and fired on the girl, the shot going wild and striking Mrs. Van Mater who had come to interfere. Capt. of Detectives, R. M. Beckstead and assistants investigated the case and found that the room bore evidences of a quarrel. Policeman McManis was attracted by screams of the woman and was going up the stairs when the shots were fired. At the jail, Buford declares that he was cleaning the gun and it went off by accident. Mrs. Van Mater's wound is not serious.

RAILWAYS AND FORESTS.

The Two Are Now Sheepowners' Burden, Says Walker.

Secretary George S. Walker of the National Woolgrowers' association has sent out circular letters arranging the railways and forest service as follows: "Administration of the forest reserves has become intolerable through the sheep business is deprived of stability, and owners cannot tell in the fall what they may expect in the spring. Arbitrary administration of the reserves, and on the part of the forest officials, sometimes leave the bands of sheep without any supervision.

"The transportation of live stock to market has become so unsatisfactory as to arouse the indignation of the humane societies of the United States, and these societies, co-operating with the live stock shippers, demand better service with live stock, which, according to the slow pace from the ranges of the west to the markets of the east, the frequent loading and unloading, is bruised, crippled and treated in a most inhumane manner."

GIRL IDENTIFIES ASSAILANT.

Myrtle Crowther Says Louis Brown Is The Man.

Louis Brown, a Greek laborer, aged 22 years, who was arrested Saturday night by Policeman Gulbranson and charged with a statutory offense, alleged to have been committed in the Sanitarium baths, has been positively identified by Myrtle Crowther as the man who attempted to assault her Friday night near Ninth South and Third West streets.

When brought before the man, she declared unabashedly: "That is the man. His clothes are different, but I know his face anywhere." Brown protested his innocence and insisted that he could prove his alibi Friday night. Numerous Greeks endeavored to provide him with a lawyer, but the police are holding him pending further investigation.

LIQUOR MEASURE
COMES UP AGAIN

Council Will Reconsider Ordinance With Respect to the Druggists.

A TANGLED ORDINANCE NOW

Any One of Three or Four Interpretations Seems as Reasonable as the Others as It Now Stands.

Tuesday evening, the city council will endeavor to straighten out the liquor ordinance tangle of their own making, which Mayor Bransford and City Atty. Dinwiny gave up trying to take the kinks from with no avail, finally making an interpretation of their own by the method of general average. The fact that this interpretation was not to the liking of many of the councilmen is responsible for the reconsideration which will be given the proposition tomorrow night.

It appears that what the council really intended trying to do was to eliminate the druggists entirely from the field of action in regard to selling liquor in a certain manner. The way the liquor ordinance was amended after it was enacted at the session last Monday night, however, the mayor could have placed any one of three or four interpretations on it. He might have decided it was the intention of the council to allow the druggists to come under the classification of retailers by declaring the new amendments annulled section 8 of the ordinance. There is now little doubt, however, that the license provision for druggists would have been merely a prohibitive measure. Again, and this is the view which was taken by the mayor and the city attorney in striking the average, he might have held that the old ordinance was unchanged by the amendments and that the old license of $400 a year still prevailed.

There is now little doubt, however, that the intention of the council was to eliminate all provision for druggists' licenses. The trend of the discussion previous to the passage of the amendments indicated as much, and most respected opinion was so twisted that this interpretation could not be made when the mayor came to attach his signature.

INTENTION IS CLEAR.

Under the circumstances, there is little doubt as to what the action of the council will be tomorrow night. The intention is now clear and the ordinance, when the city council meets, it will either take from the druggists the privilege of licenses by making no provision for such or the fee of $1,500 will be placed on such license, which will make it prohibitive if section 8 is permitted to stand undisturbed. This section prohibits the sale of liquor in amounts of less than a half pint.

Judge LeGrand Young's request that he be permitted to purchase certain property in Emigration canyon of the city, which land he was of the opinion he had purchased once before but found through a new survey that he had not, will be taken up tomorrow night. This will doubtless precipitate a fight, as the council is plainly divided as to the advisability of selling him the land in question at the price he proposes to pay, $2 a acre. This is the first time the city for the land when it was purchased from Mr. Young, and his proposition in buying back certain of the land was to pay the same price that he paid him, adding to this interest on the money invested. He desires to build a resort in the canyon and the land in question is necessary for his purposes.

Various estimates are placed upon the land by the councilmen, and they will oppose its sale for the figure mentioned. Others hold that what land the city owns in the canyon was made more valuable by the Emigration Canyon mill, which Mr. Young built and that by virtue of this fact, the city could do nothing less than permit him to buy

The land wanted at the price the city paid for it, particularly since it was decided once before to sell this specific land to him at that price and it was so understood by the council and Mr. Young, the survey having been altered through a technical error.

Hanners and Alice White were arrested about 11 o'clock by Policemen Frantz and Fitzgerald on the charge of stealing feather plumes from the Arbery store in South Main street. The woman was turned over to the matron and the man was placed in the boys' ward.

While Jailer Wilkinson was leading Hanners to a cell, he was attracted by Sullivan, whose body was dangling with the cord made from blanket strips tightening around his neck. Wilkinson leaped to his rescue and cut the rope. In the meantime, Hanners had dashed out of the jail.

Wilkinson and Frantz gave chase, but the fugitive had already crossed First South street and was running up State street. A detail of policemen in plain clothes took up the chase, but no trace of him has been found.
